AUTHENTIC LEADERSHIP & DESIGN THINKING

Human Centered Design Thinking (HCDT) is an innovation method that makes an essential 'detour' called EMPATHY to explore the needs of people involved in a problem, or being capable to provide inspiration to solve the problem before jumping to the solution of the problem. During this programme Human Centred Design Thinking will be applied to a local real-life company mission. The programme has also a strong focus on personal development and soft skills. It aims to stimulate people-centered leadership based on students' awareness of their personal strengths, morals and unique qualities. It allows students to develop their personal leadership potential and better access their creative potential in their professional and personal life.

PROGRAMME HIGHLIGHTS

- 5-days – 25 teaching hours – 5 hours per day – 4 ECTS credits.
- Innovative learning approaches beyond traditional leadership theory that encourage authenticity, action, and the courage to seek one's true leadership identity (Emergence play).
- Human Centered Design Thinking (HCDT) – innovation method originally defined by the consulting company IDEO applied to a real existing problem.
- Local real-life company mission.

A UNIQUE STUDY ENVIRONMENT

DIJON CAMPUS

Situated in the city center and well-connected by public transport, the campus is easily accessible. This modernised campus aims to provide an enriching student life, prioritises the student experience and caters to innovative teaching methods and collaborative work environments.

LYON CAMPUS

Situated in Lyon's 8th arrondissement, provides the convenience and adaptability of a coworking space. Established in 2016, it underwent a remarkable transformation in 2021, introducing state-of-the-art facilities tailored to our students' needs. To accommodate our growing student body, a brand-new campus is set to be opened in September 2025, providing the space and resources needed to support BSB's development.

For the second consecutive year, BSB is ranked number one by the students for student satisfaction, thanks to its student-centred approach and welcoming environment.

The focus on individual needs and a supportive community fosters both personal growth and academic success.
